Introducing a new in-house counsel model.

Connect Your Business

Unlike the reactionary process of traditional law firms, our proactive in-house counsel model implements a process for effectively managing your company's legal risks.

With our in-house counsel model, your business is our business. Here's what you can expect to receive from our ongoing assessments and preventative legal health analysis that you won't find using traditional law firms.

Customized Service

By working as an integral part of your team, our lawyers will develop a holistic understanding of your business, and will be able apply their detailed and comprehensive knowledge about your business to the most complex of legal matters.

Business Growth Opportunities

Our lawyer's in-depth understanding of your company will provide you with meaningful legal advice and guidance. By adding a legal dimension to your business decisions, your business strategies will receive legal consultation before their implementation, making for a more positive outcome.

Efficient Decision-Making

With quick and easy access to our lawyers, you won't have to worry about going to the trouble of reaching out to private practices and trying to familiarize them with your business each time a new legal issue arises. Our in-house counsel will have a nuanced understanding of your company's long-standing agreements, allowing you to take the time spent reiterating these matters and devote it to other parts of your business.

Peace of Mind

Stop losing sleep about legal matters, that's our job. With our lawyers on board, you'll have the reliability and comfort of knowing your in-house counsel understands your company's needs and is tending to them. You can rest reassured that you have instant access to a licensed attorney that is devoted to your business.

Risk Management

Discovering potential legal hazards before they arise will create long-term value for your company while also allowing you to efficiently manage legal risks.

The Fit For You

No More Charges on Preliminary Inquiries

No more charges on minor legal questions! By joining the Winright community, your business can come to us with any preliminary legal questions which your management or employees may have. You won't have to worry about time – we won't be keeping track.

All-Around Business Expertise

Our lawyers at Winright are well-versed in both business litigation and solicitor's work. Whether it be a question that you might have or work that you need done, our team will have you covered.

Customer-Centered

We have the customer's best interest in mind. By sharing a customer-centered approach, we can work together to collectively provide your clients with the best opportunities possible.

Familiarity with Fast-Growing Companies

Building up from a start-up stage, we have witnessed the challenges of growth and limited resources first hand. We know what you will need and prioritize as you pursue growth yourselves.

Key Benefits

Our Mission

"To lead, inspire, and provide a better legal experience."

By pairing with Winright, you will have access to advice and expertise of all our lawyers when you need them.

By eliminating idle costs and basing our fees on value, we will make sure your long term costs will be less than hiring a traditional law firm.

The proposed dynamic fee structure will let you know your legal expense heading into the month or for certain projects. Winright won't let legal fees be a hindrance to your budgeting process.

By allowing us to work with you over the long-term, our familiarization with your company will translate into efficiency and performance benefits.
